

Hastings History House had a window broken over the Easter Weekend. Thanks to Ian Porter who organised the replacement and to Ian Porter, Dennis Collins and Joe Miller for their temporary repairs which enabled us to keep open.

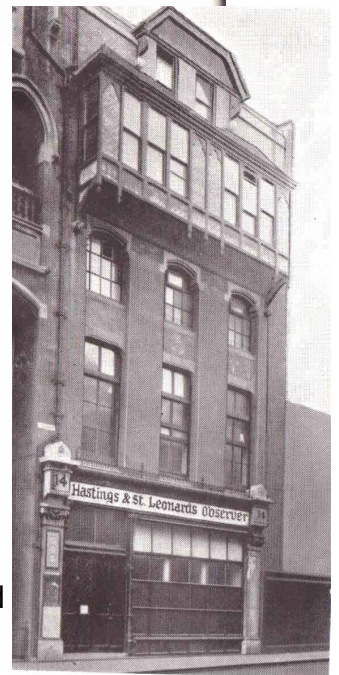

During the last 30 years the Company has both purchased and built a number of properties in order that members of the various staffs should be comfortably housed within reasonable distance of the respective works. The most recent addition is the block of four flats illustrated immediately above.

These are examples of material we have recently scanned and added to our digital archive.

The "Living Space" is an extract from 'F J Parsons Centenary Souvenir' published in 1954. It shows houses they built for their staff, not all of them in Hastings. The houses pictured centre above, are in Downs Road and bottom right and left are in Beaconsfield Road. If anyone recognises any others please let us know. The booklet is well illustrated with pictures of the printing works.

"The Friend of All" is Volume 1 no 2 of the "Official Magazine of the Work and Needs of the Royal East Sussex Hospital, Hastings." It has several pictures of the hospital and of course the advertisements are fascinating.
